

Welcome to The Critical Thinking Consortium

TC² is a non-profit organization of Partner groups and Individual Members.

Each year we support many thousands of educators through a range of face-to-face, online and print resources and services developed around a classroom-proven approach to embedding critical thinking. Our aim is to help students learn to think and think to learn.

New at TC²

Create an account

Create a free personal account with TC² before November 1st and you will be entered in a weekly draw for a $25 gift certificate for TC², Starbucks, Chapters or Staples. If you are an employee of a TC² Partner, your account will give you access to our classroom-proven online teaching and professional learning resources. Current account holders, including Individual Members, are automatically entered in the draw.

The Thinking Teacher

The October issue of The Thinking Teacher is now available for Partners and Individual Members. In this issue, you will discover ways to transform research into critical inquiry, view videos about student action for positive change, check out sample lessons and read a quote that will make you smile!

We are happy to welcome four new members to the TC² Board of Directors: Bruce Bearsto, Barry Bickerton, Diane Lander and Donna Stack-Durward.

Welcome

We hope you had a wonderful summer. Our team has been busy updating the website, adding helpful new content and re-arranging

That's a good question!
